Press Release

Sovereign and Indigenous Stablecoin Launch

Niisitapi Sovereign Bank (“NSB”) today announced the launch of Alltra USDT (“Alltra USDT” or “AUSDT”), a digital currency stablecoin for Sovereign First Nations and Indigenous communities globally. AUSDT is a virtual digital currency or asset that is pegged to the U.S. dollar, making it a reliable USD-backed stablecoin with significant similarities to USDT.

As a stablecoin, Alltra USDT fluctuates in value with the U.S. dollar. Further: (1) AUSDT is backed by NSB’s dollar reserves; specifically, AUSDT is backed by cash reserves custodied at a licensed exchange in Australia, dollar for dollar; and (2) AUSDT is also re-insured by NSB for an additional 1 USD. This dual backing structure is expected to provide users with confidence that their AUSDT tokens are fully collateralized and protected.

In addition to full USD backing and stability of value, AUSDT also comprises other important key attributes. The minting and burning mechanism used allows for the supply of AUSDT to be dynamically adjusted via a smart contract to ensure it remains fully collateralized. When USD reserves increase, new AUSDT tokens are minted to reflect this additional backing. Conversely, when AUSDT tokens are redeemed for USD, the corresponding amount of tokens are automatically burned, intended to ensure that the total supply of AUSDT remains aligned with the reserves and maintains a 1:1 backing with full insurance. Transparency is a cornerstone of AUSDT's operations. Regular audits and detailed reporting are expected to ensure that the USD reserves and insurance reserves are always accurate and fully accounted for.

Said Art Sao, Director of NSB: “As a Sovereign Central Bank we are pleased to be deploying AUSDT as the first digital currency stablecoin for First and Sovereign Nations and Indigenous communities globally. AUSDT will initially serve the digital needs of 30 Indigenous Sovereign Nations and over 140 Sovereign Indigenous Tribes (and the various related financial structures), whose significant sovereign wealth and aligned capital NSB is formally mandated to steward, grow and deploy.” He added: “AUSDT represents a new standard in stablecoin technology by combining robust USD backing with transparent operations and regulatory compliance. Its dynamic supply adjustment mechanism is expected to ensure that each token remains fully collateralized, providing users with confidence in its stability and security.”
